

Thinking about how to improve the reading culture in your school and encourage more pupils to read? Looking for support with implementing a more strategic approach? Look no further!

TSRC is a research based CPD programme aimed at primary leaders or teachers who have a responsibility for reading. Participants will have the opportunity to consider their current reading for pleasure culture and how this could be strengthened and sustained. There will be an opportunity to explore approaches to whole school change, investigate potential solutions and to share best practice.
