A Warm Welcome Back!

Welcome back, everyone. I hope you all had a lovely half-term break and managed to enjoy some family time. It's been great to see so many of you using the play equipment together at the start of the day. It's always nice to see families spending a few moments playing together before school begins.

We've got a busy half-term ahead, with plenty to look forward to. One of the highlights will be our Mother's Day lunch. Children are invited to bring along a special woman in their life to share lunch with them, whether that's a mum, step-mum, grandma, auntie, older sister, guardian or another important role model. We want every child to feel included and to celebrate someone who matters to them. We'll also be holding our much-loved Easter egg hunt, which I know the children are already excited about.

A key date for your diary is our popular Eid Fayre on 25th March. It's always a fantastic celebration of our community, with wonderful food and a brilliant atmosphere. We'd love as many families as possible to contribute a home-cooked dish to share if they're able to. The variety of food each year is incredible and really reflects the diversity of our school. I'm already looking forward to the henna and sampling some of the delicious dishes.

We know that many of our families will be observing Ramadan. We hope this is a peaceful and special time for you. Ramadan Mubarak to all who are celebrating.

On a more serious note, you may be aware of the recent measles outbreak in Enfield. We strongly encourage all parents and carers to check that their child's vaccinations are up to date. Measles is highly contagious and can be very serious. If you're unsure about your child's vaccination status, please contact your GP as soon as possible.

Finally, Thursday 5th March is World Book Day. We're really looking forward to celebrating reading across the school and seeing all the wonderful costumes. It's always a fun day and a great way to share our love of books.

Thank you, as ever, for your continued support. We're looking forward to a great half-term ahead.
