HAVE A WONDERFUL WEEKEND!

FRIDAY 6TH FEBRUARY 2026

MR CARTER'S NUMBER BLOG

Today our school was buzzing with excitement as we celebrated Number Day and what a fantastic day it was! Children across the school took part in a range of number-themed activities designed to show just how fun maths can be. From counting challenges and puzzles to games that got everyone thinking, there was something for every age group to enjoy.

One of the highlights of the day was seeing how creative the children had been with their outfits. Many arrived dressed head-to-toe in numbers, with some brilliant costumes on display. We saw number tops, patterned tights, hats covered in sums and even outfits inspired by favourite numbers. The effort and imagination really brought the day to life and created a wonderful atmosphere around the school.

Number Day wasn't just about dressing up, it was also about building confidence with numbers and reminding children that maths is all around us in everyday life. The children threw themselves into the activities with enthusiasm and smiles, making it a day to remember.

Please take a look at the photos to see some of the fun and creativity in action!

YEAR 6 GO TO UNI

This week, our Year 6 pupils took part in an exciting Focus Week centered around the university subject Environmental Science. Throughout the week, the children explored important topics such as climate change, sustainability and caring for our planet through a wide range of engaging activities. The children had the opportunity to take part in hands-on learning, discussions and creative tasks that helped them understand how science plays a key role in protecting the environment. A real highlight of the week was visiting a museum, where pupils were able to see real-world examples of environmental science in action and ask thoughtful questions.

To round off the week, the children visited a university campus, where they experienced what life at university can be like. The week ended with a graduation ceremony, making the pupils feel incredibly proud of everything they had achieved. The aim of the week was not only to inspire curiosity about science, but also to remind children that anyone can go to university. It was a memorable and motivating experience for all involved.
