We've had a super week in school this week, topped off today by taking part in the NSPCC numbers day. The children across the school have taken part in activities that all children within our BeSkilled collaborative group have completed. Thank you to those families who have also donated money for taking part in this day and this will be passed to the NSPCC. As we enter the final week of this half term children across the school will be taking part in activities relating to safer Internet day on Tuesday and we will also be celebrating children's mental health week.

I would like to say a big thank you to all of our families for their continued support and ensuring that our children are in school and on time. Currently St Hardulph's attendance is in the top 10% of schools nationally, and in the top 8 schools within the local authority. This is a fantastic achievement and we are grateful to work with you in partnership to achieve this. As per communication earlier this week from Mrs Russell, some families have received a letter regarding their child's attendance Following a visit from our education welfare officer. Should any families who have received this letter wish to discuss the contents of this letter any further please do not hesitate to get in touch with me.

Have a great weekend. Mrs Ellis
