Introduction

This privacy notice describes how we collect and use personal information about you during and after your work relationship with us, in accordance with the UK General Data Protection Regulation (UK GDPR).

Following Brexit, Regulation (EU) 2016/679, General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) is retained EU law and known as UK GDPR. The UK GDPR sits alongside an amended version of the Data Protection Act 2018 that relate to general personal data processing, powers of the Information Commissioner and sanctions and enforcement. The Data (Use and Access) Act further amends both the UK GDPR and Data Protection Act 2018 to modernise UK data protection rules and clarify certain rights and obligations. The GDPR as it continues to apply in the EU is known as EU GDPR.

This notice applies to all current and former employees, workers and contractors working in the Trust's central teams and in all Academies within the Trust.

Where appropriate we will collect information about criminal convictions as part of the recruitment process or we may be notified of such information directly by you in the course of working for us.

Automated Decision Making

Automated decision making takes place when an electronic system uses personal information to make a decision without human intervention. We are allowed to use automated decision making in limited circumstances.

Staff will not be subject to automated decision-making, unless we have a lawful basis for doing so and we have notified you

We have put in place measures to protect the security of your information (i.e. against it being accidentally lost, used or accessed in an unauthorised way). In addition, we limit access to your personal information to those employees, agents, contractors and other third parties who have a business need to know.

You can find further details of our security procedures within our Data Breach policy which can be found in the SharePoint Policies section.

It is important that the personal information we hold about you is accurate and current. Please keep us informed if your personal information changes during your working relationship with us.

Call Recording

We record telephone calls to:

- Review and improve services
- Monitor and review quality of care
- Train, develop and manage staff.
- Prevent, detect, investigate and prosecute allegations, complaints, claims and / or fraud relating to Trust staff, parents and pupils
- Protect staff and pupils

How will call recordings be used:

- Quality monitoring: Written records only provide partial information. A call recording provides a more rounded view and allows us to better understand caller and staff experience and assess the processes applied. This can help us identify any improvement areas.

- Training and development: Listening to a sample number of calls allows managers to identify training needs. Call recordings may also be used as part of training for Staff.
- Complaints and disputes: Some calls are verbally resolved. Where information is entered onto an electronic system this becomes the established record. In the event of a complaint or dispute, a call recording (if possible), may provide additional information to help us investigate and resolve
- Employee safety and wellbeing: A recording may become a vital piece of evidence in the event of any threats being made to the organisation or an individual or in dealing with employment-related matters.

How your information is shared

Generally, call recordings are not shared. In certain circumstances, for example to comply with a court order or carry out a legislative requirement, we may share call recordings.

How long we keep your call recording:

General call recordings will be retained for 14 days from the date of creation.

Can I request a copy of my call record?

If the recording is still available, you can request a copy of your conversation by contacting the Trust via the Subject Access Request form. This information will be provided to you in accordance with the terms of the Data Protection Act 1998.

Your Rights Of Access, Correction, Erasure And Restriction

Under certain circumstances, by law you have the right to:

- Access your personal information (commonly known as a “subject access request”). This allows you to receive a copy of the personal information we hold about you and to check we are lawfully processing it. You will not have to pay a fee to access your personal information. However, we may charge a reasonable fee if your request for access is clearly unfounded or excessive. Alternatively, we may refuse to comply with the request in such circumstances.
- Correction of the personal information we hold about you. This enables you to have any inaccurate information we hold about you corrected.
- Erasure of your personal information. You can ask us to delete or remove personal data if there is no good reason for us continuing to process it.

- Restriction of processing your personal information. You can ask us to suspend processing personal information about you in certain circumstances, for example, if you want us to establish its accuracy before processing it.
- To object to processing in certain circumstances (for example for direct marketing purposes).
- To transfer your personal information to another party.

If you want to exercise any of the above rights, please contact TDET HR Team in writing at hrteam@tdet.education.

We may need to request specific information from you to help us confirm your identity and ensure your right to access the information (or to exercise any of your other rights).

The Trust treats references connected to employment as confidential. Personal data contained in a confidential employment reference is exempt from certain data subject rights (including the right of access), whether the Trust provides the reference or receives it.

Right To Withdraw Consent

In the limited circumstances where you may have provided your consent to the collection, processing and transfer of your personal information for a specific purpose, you have the right to withdraw your consent for that specific processing at any time. To withdraw your consent, please contact the TDET HR Team. Once we have received notification that you have withdrawn your consent, we will no longer process your information for the purpose or purposes you originally agreed to, unless we have another legitimate basis for doing so in law.
