Dear Parents/Carers,

Transitions

This week we have had the last of our whole-school transitions. It was positive to see pupils adapting well to the change of class/teacher/support staff/room or for those remaining in their class, adjusting to having new pupils join the class. We recognise that change can be tricky for our pupils and are really proud of how hard they worked to make the adjustments, showing great resilience. We look forward to seeing the pupils continue to thrive as they move in the new academic year.

Respect

It has been wonderful to award pupils for showing respect towards peers and staff in our Celebration Assembly this week. Nurturing positive relationships with our pupils is a priority. Progress with this is not always straightforward and we spoke about this in our assembly today. Both pupils and adults make mistakes, but it is how we move forward that makes a difference. We support pupils to reflect regularly and at their own pace and really appreciate the conversations that happen at home on this too and the support you put into making the relationships stronger between home and school.

Online messaging

We are appreciative of the concerns some parents/carers have shared with us recently regarding online messages between pupils (and even former pupils) outside of school that can be upsetting. We are committed to working with pupils and home to minimise this and help pupils understand the impact of hurtful and inappropriate comments. We also value your support in talking with your child about their online activity and implications this may have on others, whether this be the volume of messages/calls made or the nature of these. Sadly, such incidents can have a negative impact on peer relationships within school.

Best Wishes
